Keeping It Local

Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals raises unrestricted funds for 170 children’s hospitals across the U.S. and Canada, helping make sure every child receives the best possible care - our member hospitals decide how to use these funds, ensuring the most urgent needs are met in each of their communities.

Here are just a few examples of what funds provided last year.

- At Beaumont Children’s Hospital funds helped provide critical equipment like specialized bikes.
- At Marshfield Children’s Hospital funds helped provide patient services like music therapy.
- At Sacred Heart Children’s Hospital funds helped provide patient services like The THRIVE program.
- At UC Davis Children’s Hospital funds helped provide advancement services like research grant.
- At Lauren Small Children’s Center funds helped provide equipment like day of giving list of items to be funded.
- At CoxHealth funds helped provide patient services like gas cards and cribs.
- At UF Health Shands Children’s Hospital funds helped provide research like COVID-19 antibodies in breastmilk.
- At Phoebe Putney Memorial Hospital funds helped provide equipment like NICU Transporter.
- At James and Connie Maynard Children’s Hospital at Vidant Medical Center funds helped provide equipment like ArcticSun Machine.

More cowbell, please! If you’re in Walmart in Hilo, Hawaii during the annual Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals campaign, there are two things you can count on hearing, cowbells ringing and the cheerful associates yelling “Mahalo” every time a donation is made. The associates know that every dollar raised goes to Kapi‘olani Medical Center for Women and Children. Store Manager, Mark Roberts, fosters a culture of giving and creativity within his store where all 360 associates get involved, even producing their very own viral music video dedicated to making donations and making a difference in their community. Children’s hospitals are best positioned to positively impact children’s health – but they can’t do it alone.

Since 2012, Stephen and Mallory Georg have been raising funds through Extra Life. When asked what does change kids’ health, change the future mean to you, they said, “It’s extremely literal to us: if you can improve the health of children and ensure their quality of life, you give them the opportunity to grow, contribute, and alter the world around them. We absolutely must invest in children at any possibility, and it starts with health.” In 2021, they raised more than $120,000 for their local member children’s hospital and have no plans of stopping.

Nile was born prematurely and spent 51 days in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). Donations to Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals have helped him benefit from the services of his local member hospital through spinal surgery, cleft lip revision, and cochlear implants. Donations will continue to aid the treatments and services used for his ongoing therapy and care. As the Ace All-Star, Nile represents the personal impact of contributions from Ace Hardware customers and associates on all children who need the specialized services of children’s hospitals.

“We do it for the cause, not the applause.” In 2010 Candy and Lisa, both RE/MAX agents, brought 50 teddy bears to the Children’s National WASH-FM for Kids Radiothon. The patients loved the bears, and “Bears of Love” was born. RE/MAX Agents and Offices part of the Miracle Home and Miracle Property Program believe that businesses are only as healthy as their communities which is why across all levels of the RE/MAX network, they are helping to change kids’ health to change the future. Candy and Lisa have raised nearly $125,000 to provide bears for patients and fund critical needs for the NICU at their local member children’s hospital.
As an Area Coach of Operations in the Phoenix, Arizona market, Miguel was embedded in the Panda Express culture and "spirit of giving" that drives the partnership in raising funds for Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals. So, when his son Donovan suddenly needed specialized care from Phoenix Children’s Hospital due to a rare diagnosis, he already understood the value of the hospital network and the impact of each dollar donated at the register. Donovan’s doctor is studying his rare diagnosis and pulls in other specialists to help, which have been crucial in Donovan’s ongoing care. “We are super grateful we have them in Phoenix.”

After her local children’s hospital in Atlanta, Georgia, treated her daughter for seizures caused by a cyst on the left part of the brain, Rahel, a truck driver remarks on how grateful she is for Love’s Travel Stops. “As a truck driver, I use Love’s truck stops all the time. It’s home away from home. I’ve seen firsthand when people donate, [families like mine] can benefit... It doesn’t matter if it’s five dollars, one dollar, or two dollars. When we all collectively donate, it turns into millions.”

“In 2015, our 6-year-old son, Elijah, kept having fevers as high as 105, and our pediatrician couldn’t explain why. My wife, Jennifer, suspected it was more than a virus. She took him to Seattle Children’s, where doctors gave us a devastating diagnosis: Elijah had liver cancer. Our experience was especially surreal because I work for Costco, which has raised millions of dollars for Seattle Children’s to help families throughout our region. I never expected one of those families to be my own.”

- Ed Hagstrom, Costco employee

“For over 30 years, Speedway and our customers, associates, and business partners have held steadfast in our commitment to supporting Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals and its advancement of pediatric healthcare,” said Rankin Gasaway, 7-Eleven Executive Vice President and Chief Administrative Officer. “We look forward to continuing our fundraising efforts, growing our partnership, and giving back to the communities in which we operate.”
More than 400 radio stations across the country host annual Radiothons, paying it forward to raise critical funds for their local member hospital by sharing the stories of kids like Colton. After three months in the hospital and two open-heart surgeries, Colton ultimately lost his battle and passed away. His parents, Britney and Sam were so moved by the care team at Children’s Colorado that they decided to pursue degrees in nursing and now work at the hospital that cared for their late son. By sharing stories of rewarding experiences at local member hospitals, Radiothon partners like Alice 105.9 in Denver, ensure more kids like Colton get the care they need.

The Southern Ohio PGA, through the PGA REACH Southern Ohio PGA Foundation, hosted the inaugural Play Yellow Birdie Bash in 2021, bringing together a vast network of fundraisers and golfers passionate about raising money for Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals during one day of impact. Through its success raising nearly a quarter of a million dollars, plans to replicate and host future Birdie Bashes across the country will mean more unrestricted funds can be raised and additional individuals can support the needs of Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals through Play Yellow and the game of golf.

School is an essential part of children’s normal routine, and it’s important to keep up this routine when kids are in the hospital. Recognizing this need, Desert Financial Credit Union raised $850,000 in 2021 that will help fund the 1 Darn Cool School at Phoenix Children’s Hospital. This allows the kids to feel better, both physically and mentally, and keep up their education so they don’t fall behind.

The University of South Carolina Dance Marathon created a year-long campaign effort titled “Every Moment Matters” that emphasized the need to lean into the network and each moment, donation, and individual participant’s experience to make the biggest impact on Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals. When we don’t live in the present, “we’re going to miss the opportunity to change kids’ health to change the future.” Through this campaign, the program garnered the excitement of their community during the network-wide Child Health Day initiative and had the highest fundraising total with more than $71,590.
Dedicated Supporters

At a time when children’s hospitals are constantly navigating the ebbs and flows of the pandemic, our supporters were with us every step of the way. We are forever grateful for their dedication to ensuring our mission never slows.

The Future

2021 was a year of recovery, recharging and refocusing – for all of us. Filled with starts and stops, trials and triumphs, our mission became even more clear and critical.

Children’s hospitals across the U.S. and Canada continue to grapple with the lingering effects of the pandemic. These effects will be felt for years to come – but our dedication to unrestricted fundraising can help ease these hardships. Our support can help ensure that years of pediatric innovations and research don’t slip backwards or out of reach.

Together, we continue on.

The best way to prepare our kids for the future is to invest in their health and well-being today.
